Chapter 1 by Megan Moffitt

It was a day like any other day, except for one thing. It was the first day of school. A new school. Okay fine, this day was not normal. As I walked along the sidewalk toward my new school my mind lingered here, then there, and then finally settled on one thing. My friends! They were probably back in Waukesha, Wisconsin hugging and telling about how boring their summers were and how excited they were to be in the 5th grade, while I was here in Tennessee sweating out almost 50% of the water in my body. In case you didn't know 75% of your body is made out of water. I missed those guys, Bailey was always so funny and Aady, oh sweet Aady how she was always so serious and almost all of the time had a comeback for everything. "HONK HONK!" went a bus as I snapped back to reality. As I looked around I realized I was standing in the middle of a street, and my backpack was missing! I ran to the nearest sidewalk just as a car came hurtling towards me. Not to long after the Police came to investigate the crash that I had caused. Did I tell the Policeman I had caused the crash? No. No I didn't but it was just a little lie. Right? Then suddenly I remembered, I was late for school! Not to mention lost in the streets of Spring Hill, Tennessee. 5 hours later, "Uhhh" I groaned as I sat up. My first thoughts were why was it so dark where was I, and why was I covered in mud? Oh, right. After I saw the policeman I bubble gum until I found what I was looking for, my reading light. In case you didn't know my name is Gossamer Willowglow.

I am the moon goddess. I can only be seen when the moon meets with the sun. I wear dresses that glow with fiery colours. I am a evil fairy - goddess.
